

AirPlus Security Competence.

The maximum security standard for your data.

Do you strive for the utmost in data security and control? AirPlus ensures you receive it. All of your company's and employees' travel data is in safe hands. You can rely on the most expert handling and processing of your data, irrespective of whether we refer to your credit card data or our online product services.

We adhere to the following legal regulations ...

- > Directives of the European Commission
- > Banking regulations
- > Privacy Standards Security regulations and provisions of credit card organisations like Mastercard® and Visa.

Based on these legal guidelines, we guarantee maximum security standards in all markets. In addition, we apply the most stringent safety measures to prevent any abuse or access by unauthorized parties.

... and we are subject to our own additional codes of conduct

- > AirPlus is certified according to DIN EN ISO 9001. Regular renewals of the certification make sure that we continuously improve and secure our quality and safety standards.
- > Please note that we may use external service providers to process your data. These agents may use data related to AirPlus customers only in accordance with our specifications. The data is processed exclusively to ensure due fulfillment of your contract.
- > All AirPlus employees have signed data protection declarations. Access to data is limited to the specific process and has to be approved by management at the highest level.

- > We apply the same standards as Mastercard® and Visa.

Choose more data security

- > When using the AirPlus Company Account statements, it is possible to suppress the passenger name, purchase date and account number on request.
- > In our MIS, the AirPlus Information Manager, you have the option to suppress the customer name, personal ID and the AirPlus Corporate Card number.
- > Data transmissions from our online products are invariably encrypted. This guarantees that the transmission of your online statements is secure.
